Summer 2010 Newsletter of the Washington State University Counseling Psychology Program

Greetings once again from the WSU Counseling Psychology program! It has been a while since we last distributed an update of our program. The last newsletter was published in 2008 and many great events and accomplishments have occurred since that time. First we have a new faculty member who recently joined our ranks this fall, Dr. Susan Jensen, Clinical Assistant Faculty. She coordinates our masters school counseling program and also is essential to placing our masters students (community and school) in their practica and internship settings. She is well acquainted with WSU as she is an alumna for her masters and doctorate degrees. We are very fortunate and happy to have her on our team. The usual crew (Drs. Arreed and Marianne Barabasz, Stephanie Bauman, Tim Church, Brian McNeill and Laurie "Lali" McCubbin) are still here with Dr. McNeill as our Area Coordinator and Dr. Marianne Barabasz as our Training Director. Many changes have occurred within the College of Education with the passing of our former Dean, Judy Mitchell and Associate Dean, Len Foster in the summer of 2009. Our former Chair of Educational Leadership and Counseling Psychology, Dr. Phyllis Erdman, took on the essential role as Interim Dean for the 2009-2010 academic year and Dr. Michael Trevisan from Educational Psychology took on the Interim Chair position for the ELCP department.

Jensen has served as an elementary and secondary school counselor in the Washington public schools for 14 years. In her present position as Clinical Assistant Professor, she teaches two graduate courses;

Current Issues in School Counseling and School Counseling Internship.

Jensen has a wide range of professional interests which include international schools, community college teacher education programs, professional development schools, counselor education and the practice of school counselors, literacy education (teaching writing), and gifted education.

If you'd like to read more about her, please check the following link:

We are very thankful for their leadership and continued commitment to the counseling psychology program.

In this newsletter, we present many accomplishments including presentations and publications by our faculty and students. Additionally we have been very fortunate to continue to provide scholarships for our counseling students even during this difficult economic climate. Our alumni have been doing tremendous work nationally and internationally and we congratulate them all on their current endeavors. If you have any alumni news or would like to be a part of our alumni spotlight, please send us an email at mccubbin@wsu.edu. Thank you and enjoy the newsletter!

Alumni Spotlight: Dr. Jeanne Bulgin

Dr. Jeanne Bulgin is a graduate of our doctoral program in Counseling Psychology (Ph.D., 2003) and is currently the Training Director and the Associate Director of the University of Idaho Child and Youth Center (UICYSC), which is one of approximately 67 University Centers for Excellence in the country. She provides training and supervision for our graduate students in the counseling and clinical psychology programs. She works half time with children and youth, ages 2 to 19, at UICYSC and works half time with adults and adolescents in private practice at Educational and Psychological Services in Moscow, Idaho.

What were your positions prior to working at the University of Idaho? I was the Multicultural Liaison at WSU Career Services. I also worked as the Practicum Coordinator and Multicultural Coordinator at Marquette University Counseling Center.

What do you like most in these past positions and your current position? I knew I always wanted to do training. [At WSU] I enjoyed working with students and creating relationships on campus. Being the Multicultural Liaison included counseling as well as creating relationships with the Multicultural Counselors at MSS, consulting and advising them, and building relationships with the centers such as AAPI and the GLBT center. I participated in several student groups including the Middle Eastern Student Association which I enjoyed. At Marquette, I liked working with my colleagues and loved working with Marquette's mission of advocacy and service to the underserved. [At University of Idaho] I love working with and training graduate doctoral students.

You have found a balance between clinical work, teaching and supervision. Many of our students are seeking that same balance. What advice do you have for them?

Identify main interest areas in your internship. Find an internship that is flexible and accommodates your training goals. Do what you love to do and do a good job. Be consistent and genuine in trying to live how you teach other people how to live.

In terms of WSU? Get involved in a research team. Get started on dissertation early. Seek a supportive mentor that shares an interest in a research topic that you do.

Interview with Dr. Lali McCubbin. You can reach Dr. Jeanne Bulgin at jbulgin@uidaho.edu.
