

Sport Management

3.2

The average Grade Point Average (GPA) of students admitted into the major.

125

Undergraduate Sport Management students each semester who develop professional skills and gain practical experience in a Pac-12 athletic department, university recreation center, or community parks and recreation setting.

350+

Students currently pursuing a bachelor's degree in Sport Management. That's more than 350 aspiring leaders in the field of amateur or professional sport and recreation.

580+

Practicum and internship hours students complete with agencies in multiple fields by the time they graduate. Ready to seamlessly transition into careers in sport and recreation industries.

$20,000+

Money raised by the students each year through the program's capstone event management course. Students plan and carry out sport-related events to benefit dozens of local and national nonprofit organizations.

$16,700

Scholarship money awarded to Sport Management students last year. Helping students pursue their studies — and their dreams. This would not be possible without vital donor support.

6

Research presentations we organize every year. Faculty and students discuss their work with colleagues in the program and beyond.

7

Languages in which our program faculty are fluent.

20

Students who participated in our faculty-led study abroad trips. They gained a global perspective on sport management.

30

Maximum number of students in our upper-division courses. We keep them small to encourage participation and form relationships with our future graduates.

101

"Sport and Popular Culture", or SPMGT 101, is the only sport-themed diversity (DIVR) course among the University Common Requirements (UCORE). Start learning about sport in your first semester... you won't look at it the same way again!
